CAPITAL GAINS TAXES COULD HAVE LOWER'D THE NATIONAL DEBT

Lolli

@boondockerm600

Imagine if the markets were truly fair and all of the capital gains taxes that would be paid by retail investors. How much of that national debt would be paid just with #MMTLP alone?

Based on our Too Late to Cancel amounts, the US would have received over $500K.

Your talking points are disingenuous when you are complicit in allowing the fraud to continue. Prove me wrong-what's the share count for $MMTLP?

Lack of action is an action! Do better!

DEFRAUDED BY FINRA $24,994.02 TOO LATE TO CANCEL

James - Defrauded by FINRA!

@Jamessema51927

Yes, $5k/sh for #MMTLP seems like a fair ask considering "too late to cancel" orders for $200k. 🤔 IMO, limited supply & insane #'s caused the halt. However, our ask must be high. People forget how negotiating works. We say $5k, they say $5, and we meet somewhere in the middle.

THE ORDER TO BUY OR SELL THE SECURITY HAS BEEN PROCESSED, "TRANSACTION COMPLETE"

MMTLP Investor

@mmtlpinvestor

Chat GPT says: If a trade message says "too late to cancel," it typically means that the trade has already been executed. The order to buy or sell the security has been processed, and the transaction is complete. Once a trade is executed, it cannot be canceled or undone #MMTLP

IF A BROKER HAD BUYER LINED UP FOR MMTLP SHARES BUT COULDN'T EXECUTE THE TRADE BEFORE
FINRA HALTED TRADING

GLASS GUY

@Giftsonglass

#mmtlp

too late to cancel...

referring to mmtlp could that mean the broker had a buyer but was not able to execute the trade due to the halt?

Yes, that's possible. If a broker had a buyer lined up for MMTLP shares but couldn't execute the trade before FINRA halted trading, the transaction would have been blocked. Here's why:

1. Trade Frozen by Halt – When trading halts occur, all open orders—including those ready for execution—are canceled or rejected.
2. Settlement Disruption – If the trade was in progress but not completed, the clearing process would have stopped, preventing the buyer from receiving shares.
3. Short Covering Impact – If a short seller was trying to buy shares to close a position, they might have been blocked from doing so, potentially leaving the position unresolved.
4. Broker Order Rejection – Brokers likely received "Too Late to Cancel" messages because the halt disrupted normal order processing.

This left many investors and short sellers in a difficult situation, as they may have been unable to complete necessary transactions before MMTLP shares transitioned into private Next Bridge Hydrocarbons stock.
